

09687 497

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An audio data processing means registers one of audio data extracted from a music CD as one of sound sources for an entertainment apparatus.- The audio data processing means has an audio data extracting means for sampling desired audio data from the audio data introduced via an optical disk drive based on a control input entered from a manual controller, and an audio data registering means for registering the sampled audio data as one of the sound sources.